Local Writers' Club Becomes
Member of Sigma Tau Delta Monday.

NATIONAL HEAD HERE

Last night (Monday) the local writers' club became affiliated with Sigma Tau Delta, national writers' fraternity, and at the formal initiation and banquet held in the Practical Arts building, the national president, Dr. Frederic Fadner, of Galesburg, Illinois, concluded the installation rites. The members were initiated at this formal meeting. They include Miss Isabel McKinney, Mrs. Bainbridge, Mrs. Reat, Carole Outler '32, Norman Goldsmith '32, Sybil Phipps '34, Ruth Corley '32, Viola Munson '32, Rita Nay '32, and Margaret Brandon '34. Dr. Fadner spoke on the subject "Israel, Whose Heartstrings Are a Lute." It was to convey an appreciation of the works of Poe and consisted of a group of illustrative readings along with the discussion.

The local writers' club was only organized last year, but the interest shown by the individual members has carried the work of the society along until it is now one of the most active clubs of the school. The membership is limited to those who do creative writing. Each year the membership list has been opened and tryouts held. Original manuscripts have been handed in to the club by students wishing membership and their works read and discussed by the members. Only those passing the approval of the club were admitted.

Sigma Delts Adopt Platform at Party Held Monday Night

The regular meeting of the Sigma Delta, local journalism fraternity, which was held at the home of F. L. Andrews Monday evening, was featured by the acceptance of the fraternity platform which was drawn up by a committee selected at the previous meeting. Some discussion of the various points in the platform followed the committee's report and minor changes were made before it was adopted.

The usual discussion period was then opened with everyone following the custom of freely stating his own opinions on the subject. Several interesting games completed the evening's entertainment. The "7 cent" refreshment committee showed its worth by serving very delightful "eats." This plan of limiting the amount spent on refreshments appears to be successful in every way. The ingenuity of the committee has come to the front in planning these delightful lunches, several interesting ones being planned soon.

The girls of the club have been practicing on special songs for this program and insure all listeners of a pleasant hour. They are to be directed by Miss Hanson of the Music department.

Besides the Glee club's songs there will be other special numbers. Margaret Krayman, pianist of the club, will play two solos. An octette composed of members from the Glee club will be heard in one number. Charlotte Tespel, member of the club, will also play a piano solo. The hour will start at 9:45.

French Club Holds Party at Pem Hall On Friday Evening

The French club met in the parlors of Pemberton Hall last Friday night for a social evening. Helen Phipps '32, Frances Irwin '34, and Jack McClelland '35 were in charge of the meeting.

Jokes were told or acted out in French. Miss Michaels, the faculty advisor, played several selections on the piano. Bridge and dancing followed the games. Refreshments were served in keeping with the season. Hot chocolate, macaroons, and heart-shaped sandwiches were in abundance. Valentines were used as favors.

The next meeting of the French club will be held on February 26.

More news will be found on pages three and six.

Establish W. A. A. at Meeting Held Tuesday Evening

We now have a Women's Athletic Association definitely established. Last Tuesday evening a number of girls met in the high school assembly where Betts Lumbrick '33 presented a suggested draft for a constitution for the club. It was accepted after a few comments on some of the features. A decision was finally made that all offices be progressive. A senior shall always be president, a junior vice president, a sophomore treasurer, and a freshman secretary. The song leader is to be chosen from any class on the merit of pure ability in this line. A point system will be used in determining all awards. Members are to be of two classes: first associate members, consisting of anyone wishing to belong and pay dues; and second active members, those people who have earned a certain number of points through activities in sports.

The officers elected at the first meeting were: Margaret King '32, president; Velma Rains '33, vice-president; Susie Phipps '34, treasurer; Marguerite Zimmer '35, secretary; and Marjory Digby '34, song leader. The song leader was selected from real competition; each of the nominees led the club in a rousing song or cheer to show her ability in stirring up pep and enthusiasm. The meeting dispersed with two lusty cheers—one for the newly elected officers and one for "Betts" who was the promoter of the club's organization.

STUDENTS GIVE RECITAL

Students of music in the voice and piano departments presented a fine recital Monday afternoon, February 8, at 4 o'clock in the center music room. Nine piano students and three from the voice department participated in the recital.

Tie for Second Honors Places Three Men at Head of Contest

Players to Present Annual Production Saturday, March 5

Plan a Semi-Formal Dance to Be Held In Gymnasium After Play.

The Player's annual production, "Mr. Pim Passes By," written by A. A. Milne, is to be presented to the public on Saturday, March 5. The cast, which includes four women and three men, has been selected as follows: Mr. Pim, Jerry Cravens '35; George Marden, an English country gentleman, John Black '34; Olivia, his wife, Florence Davis '33; Anne, a maid, Cora Turner '34; Dinah, niece and ward of Marden, Frances Sudduth '35; Brian Strange, an artist in love with Dinah, Ralph Evans '32; and Aunt Julia, Rita Storme '35.

In addition to the presentation of the play that evening, the Players are busily planning an all-school dance which will follow immediately afterwards in the gymnasium. The dance is to be semi-formal—that is, afternoon and tea dresses for the girls and dark suits for the men. It's just a chance to dress up once again, and the committee expects the term "semi-formal" to scare no one away.

William Balls '33, is in charge of the entire evening. The following committees have been selected to assist with the programme: decorations, Elizabeth Lumbrick '33, Grace Teel '33, Virena Bennett '33, Phyllis Adkins '33, Alice McCarthy '34, Macon Couch '32, John Shouring '33; refreshments, Louise Leasure '34, Lou Elynn Bryant '33, Margaret Irwin '35, Gertrude Carruthers '34; entertainment, Harold Cottingham '35, Helen Weber '34; tickets, Charles Burns '34, Rex McMorris '32; publicity, Barbara McDaniels '34, Burdell Murray '35.

Four Seniors and One Sophomore Selected at Election Held Wednesday.

SMALL NUMBER VOTE

Students of the college went to the polls last Wednesday mornings and selected five students, two women and three men, to the honor of Campus Leaders. Originally only four were to be selected, but due to a tie vote among the men for second honors, the News is asking the acceptance of three men to the title of Campus Leader. Betty Hamer '32, and Barbara McDaniels '34, were the two women receiving the largest number of votes. Miss Hamer is completing her fourth year at this college and has been active in campus affairs during all four years. Miss McDaniels is a transfer student from McMurry College for Women at Jacksonville, Illinois. This is her first year here, but her work in the campus clubs and societies has brought her classmates to elect her to the honor.

Rex McMorris '32, also elected Campus Leader last year, led the field of men entered by their sponsors. Irvin Singler '32, and Joe Kirk '32, were tied with 59 votes each, and so, will receive second honors.

A new system of balloting was attempted by the News, and results were very satisfactory. No evidence of irregularities in voting were found by the committee.

February 22 Date Set For Freshman "Skotch Kut-up"

Plans are rapidly being concluded for the All-Freshman party to be held in the gymnasium on Monday evening, February 22, at 8:00. This party is burdened with the name "Skotch Kut-up," and promises to be one of the best affairs ever sponsored by the Freshman class. Although expenses have been slashed to a minimum, some of the best of the country has been engaged to entertain the frosh.

Sandy MacBain and his Bagpipe Bubbies will furnish the "hot rhythm" for the occasion. This orchestra is led by an old Scotch mountaineer and consists of five "Skotch Laddies." Every effort is being made to secure a yodeler to complete the Skotch effect. All Freshman boys wishing to attend will be admitted by presenting two apples at the door; girls by presenting two oranges. The committee is in charge requests that no "overripe" fruit be presented.

F. L. Andrews Gives Travel Talk at Hall

F. L. Andrews of the English department, who was in charge of the Sunday afternoon musicale, gave his audience the choice of either hearing some of his victrola records of great operas or of listening to a "travel talk." When the choice was made in favor of the latter there were no regrets.

Hawaii, Japan, Calcutta, Egypt, Rome and other of the mysterious lands of the Orient were some of the places to which this voyage of imagination was made. The many lines of original verse with which Mr. Andrews was enabled to paint even more vividly the scenes of his travels were greatly enjoyed by his listening friends.

Campus Leaders Active In Many College Clubs

Joe Kirk '32 graduated in 1928 from Robinson, Illinois, high school. He played both tackle and full-back during his four years on the varsity squad. He was president of his class during his freshman, sophomore, and senior years. Kirk has played in the field on the baseball team the last two years. During his sophomore year he was business manager of the Warbler. In his junior year he was elected to the Student Council, and this year he is serving as president. He is a member of the Varsity club and also president of the Fideles. Kirk graduates this June.

Rex McMorris '32 comes from Harvey, Illinois, but is a graduate of T. C. high school with the class of 1928. Rex has been a star guard for four years, ending his college competition only last fall. He was vice-president of his class the first year. During his second year he became a member of the Players and the Varsity club. Last year he was elected president of the Men's Union, an honor to which he was re-elected this year. He was also vice-president of his class. This year he was appointed Student Treasurer. This year she was elected president of the Women's League and automatically became a member of the Student Recreation committee and the Publication Board. She will graduate this June.

Irvin Singler '32 graduated from Nokomis, Illinois, high school with the class of 1927. Singler was sports editor of the Warbler, of the News, and a member of Phi Sigma Epsilon in his sophomore year. Last year he was football manager and also made his letter in baseball. This year he is editor of the Warbler, president of Phi Sigma Epsilon, and sports editor of the News. He will graduate this June.

The high school celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington will be held in the College assembly on Tuesday, February 23rd, at 2:30 p. m.

The following programme will be presented:

High School Mixed Chorus: Paper—Marian Shubert, Washington and the Development of the West; Song by Miss Major; Paper—Florence Wood, Washington and the Constitution; Piano Solos—Charles Teepeel and Margaret Inman; Paper—Richard Popham, Washington and American Foreign Policy.

All members of the high school, their parents and friends, high school alumni, and members of the faculty are cordially invited to attend.

Reviews Given of Senior Class Play

Some of the most amusing scenes in "The Romantic Young Lady" are in the devoted warfare between Dona Barbarita, an aged duenna who has buried three husbands, and her immortal maid, Marie Pepa. The old Duenna offers a character part which Lucille Thomas portrays with all the elegance and real distinction demanded. Irma Dennis is uniquely convincing with her pungent, homely sarcasm as she acts the part of the maid in affectionate altercations with her mistress.

Delightfully appealing, too, is the relationship between Dona Barbarita and her grand-daughter, the Romantic Young Lady. Very characteristic of the author, Martinez Sierra, is the old duenna's summary of it all, "I'm as old now, perhaps I've forgotten what the things are she wants most to learn about life."

The Writers' Club Gives Programme

Last Tuesday, the Writers' club entertained the High School at General Assembly. After an introduction by Miss Orcutt and an offer of membership to the club to any Junior or Senior by the President, Kathryn Walker, the following programme was given:

Edward Ferguson's "Beany on Cals," read by Kathryn Walker; "The Adventure of Billy Bug," a parody on "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree," read and written by Theresa Weber; "Jerry's Date with the Devil," an amusing and clever bit of campdom, written by Mary Greve and read by the president; and two excellent original poems on "Rain" written and read by Ruth Lomgole.

High School Talent Sponsors Broadcast

Several talented members of the high school furnished the programme on the News hour from station WDZ yesterday (Monday). The Harrod twins, Shirley and Maxine, sang a number of popular duets for the first part of the programme. Wayne Sanders accompanied them on the piano.

The Boys' quartet, composed of Max White, first tenor, Don Cavin, second tenor, Thomas Chamberlain, first bass, and Charles Spencer, second bass, sang a group of semi-popular numbers. Mary Elizabeth Inman '35, accompanied the quartet on the piano.

At a called meeting of the Junior Class last week, Miss Frances Titus was elected general chairman of the Junior-Senior Banquet which is to be on May 7.

Everyone goes to the College Inn for good food and fountain service. Eat, drink and be merry at the College Inn.

Garrison Rains Is Chosen New Editor

Garrison Rains '32, has been chosen to succeed Irma Dennis as editor of the Blue and Gold. The appointment was necessary because Miss Dennis is moving to Bismark, N. D., to make her home after March 15.

Rains should prove as capable as an editor as he has in his many other activities. He is a leader in athletics, dramatics, and in class.

He will be assisted by the same very capable staff that has served under Miss Dennis. "This staff does not receive a salary, bribe, or praise for its work," says George Wyeth, the staff motto which is: "Just for the good of good old T. C." After Miss Dennis leaves the staff will probably consist of: Garrison Rains, editor; Mary E. Weir, associate editor; George Wyeth, Margaret McCarthy, Bob Smith, Leslie Dawson, Jayne Lynch, Margaret Servey, Pauline Smith, and Frances Durgue.

Irma Dennis Reads Before Poetry Club

On Thursday, February 11, Irma Dennis was reader at the regular meeting of the College poetry reading club. Miss Dennis is the only High School member of this club, which reads and discusses contemporary poetry. She presented a varied program of poetry, ranging from Carl Sandburg's "Chicago" to Fletcher's "The Moon's Orchestra."

SURPRISE PARTY—

Last Saturday night at seven-thirty, Miss Evelyn Ringo and Miss Jayne Lynch arrived at the home of Louise Tym to spend a quiet evening in beldge and gossip. Miss Mary Alice Harwood was there to complete the foursome. Miss Harwood dealt and, in excitement over her good hand, declared a four no-trump bid. At this moment, several friends of the girls rushed into the room, wishing Evelyn and Jayne a "Happy Birthday!" Saturday was Evelyn's fifteenth birthday and Sunday was Jayne's sixteenth.

The real surprise of the two girls made the party truly a success.

There were three tables of bridge in play during the evening. Miss Mary Alice Harwood held high score and Miss Louise Inman held low.

Refreshments of punch, cakes, Refreshments of punch, cakes, of the evening.

Those present were: Misses Jayne Lynch, Evelyn Ringo, Mary Alice Harwood, Ruth Royce, Louise Inman, Janet Bainbridge, Marguerite Kinsman, Ruth Stallings, Helen Hall, Delpha Meyers, and Louise Tym.

Noted Sociologist Predicts Super-Race

New York—(UP)—Speaking here recently, Dr. Louis Berman, medical sociologist, predicted the artificial development through glandular stimulation of a race of supermen who would attain 10 feet in height, require virtually no sleep and, at the will of the endocrinologist, be endowed with the mental capacities of geniuses.

He failed to mention whether he would be willing to put his idea very at the command of football coaches.

Blue and Gold In a Close Victory Over Kansas High

The Blue and Gold of T. C. High school put themselves in tip-top shape for the Charleston High tilt by defeating a strong Kansas High team Friday night in the local gymnasium by a 24 to 22 count.

The T. C. warriors showed a decided superiority in all lines of the game. A successful passing attack prevailed for T. C. throughout the game. The Blue and Gold took a nine-point lead in the first quarter which they kept until the third quarter when Kansas rallied to make the game interesting. T. C. snapped out of its lethargy pace at this point however, and kept a two point lead till the final gun.

Fans were rewarded by seeing Don Neal play his best game of the season and see Stillions return to the offense, while all players broke into the scoring column. Spooner started the game off right with a long field goal.

For Kansas, shoot looked the best scoring nine points for the losers. Tolon, with seven points, was the best floor player of the game.

T. C. Loses to Paris 15-13 and to Greenup 25-9 in Slow Game

T. C. High, having defeated the same team a week before, went down before the Paris quintet by a score of 13 to 15 last Tuesday evening. The game, although marred by frequent fouling, was the best game seen at home this season.

Paris took the lead a short time before half period and carried a one or two point margin the remainder of the contest. With only about one minute to play, Endsley entered the game in Abernathy's place and scored, giving the game a thrilling finish. His next shot barely missed, and the gun sounded to end T. C.'s hopes.

The Blue and Gold was led by D. Neal, who accounted for two field goals. Abernathy, usual high scorer, did not perform up to his past standard, making only one field goal.

Wes Neal, subbing for Rains, was in the game long enough to make two of three free throws.

Paris did not play exceptionally good ball, but the accurate shooting of Captain Cochran early in the game kept them in the lead. He scored five points for his team, tying with Stanstead for point honors.

George Washington Portraits In Stamp Series Used In 1932

The new postage stamps issued to commemorate the Bicentennial observance of George Washington's birth which were placed on sale in the National Capital on January 1st and throughout the rest of the nation the following day, are in a series of twelve, from the one-half cent to the ten-cent denomination. These stamps show Washington as he was painted at different times in his life by different artists.

The one-half cent stamp is dark brown in color, bearing the likeness of Washington painted by Charles Wilson Peale, the original of which is now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The one-cent stamp, printed in green, is a reproduction of the profile bust by Houdon made in 1785 and now among the treasures at Mount Vernon. The one and one-half-cent stamp is light brown featuring another Peale portrait of Washington known as the Virginia Colonel, now in possession of Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia.

The stamp which the public will become most familiar with, because of its use on most mail, is the two-cent bearing the likeness of George Washington already best known, the Gilbert Stuart Athenaeum portrait done at Germantown in 1796. Already this portrait has become generally known among Americans because of its use on the one-dollar bill.

The color of the three-cent stamp is purple and it bears a reproduction of the Peale portrait painted at Valley Forge in 1777 showing Washington in the uniform of a general with a cocked hat. Another Peale portrait done the same year, known as the Rhinebeck Portrait, will appear on the four-cent stamp in warm brown. The five-cent stamp in blue features the Washington portrait now owned by the New York Historical Society.

The six-cent stamp in orange shows the portrait painted by Trumbull in 1792. The head and bust of the Trumbull portrait done in 1780 appears on the seven-cent stamp in black, while the eight-cent of olive green is a reproduction of the crayon drawing made from life by Charles B. J. P. Saint-Memin.

The nine-cent stamp is pink showing a reproduction of the pastel portrait painted from life by W. Williams in 1794, while the last of the series, the ten-cent stamp is orange in color and the portrait is taken from the Gilbert Stuart painting made in 1795, known as the Vaughan portrait.

Washington First American to Raise Domestic Carrot?

Only within recent years has it become the practice of restaurants, cafes and other dispensaries of human provender to include on the menus "Daucus Carota," which in the vegetable garden of the layman is readily recognized as the lowly and humble carrot.

In one encyclopedic reference this article is referred to as "a very bad weed" in its wild form. But George Washington, who experimented with every kind of a plant he could get, must not have considered it so bad after all. Many references in his diaries establish the fact that he raised a considerable quantity of carrots, and he seemed to find them delectable enough.

Did the great first President anticipate modern dietitians in his estimate of the value of this article for the food of man?

The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission points to the experiments conducted by the Father of His Country as evidence of what he might have accomplished in the scientific field had he lived today.

According to complete analyses made by competent investigators, the carrot has been shown to be rich in vitamins A, with some B, and some C, which no one today could get along without. This little garden plant also includes protein, nitrogenous matter and carbohydrates enough to insure the health of all who eat it.

Some of the methods by which Washington attempted to improve the carrots he raised are most interesting. Once he transplanted the young carrots, cutting the tap roots of some and the tops of others. Later he noted in his diaries after checking the yield, that "this mode of Culture will not succeed." An interesting side-light on some of the equipment with which he had to work is contained in his instructions that carrot seeds were "to be scratched in with a thorny bush."

I shall begrudge no reasonable expense that will contribute to the improvement and neatness of my farms—for nothing pleases me better than to see them in good order, and everything trim, handsome, and thriving about them.

—George Washington.

Girls' Basketball Tournament Games

Girls' basketball is going full steam ahead now. Games are played every Monday night by teams challenging each other. Of course these are fast games, there's plenty of proof for that—most of the spectators are the college men. Two snappy games were played last night with Marjory Digby '34 assisting Miss Chase with the refereeing.

The Ping Pong tournament has been postponed another week so that everyone may be in better trim when it does begin. The table and all equipment is available to anyone wishing to use them. You'll find them in the south hall of Penn Hall.

How much can a man lift at the end of 300 days if he can lift 200 pounds the first day, and gain one-half pound each day?

THE NEWS ADVOCATES:

- A more comprehensive recreational programme
- A class in etiquette
- The abolishment of class dues and jewelry
- A more selective membership in organizations

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1932

More Selective Membership

It is our contention that it is too easy to become a member of many of the organizations and societies of the college. Infrequent attendance at some of the meetings has been the only requirement for membership in many of them. The Warbler pictures of these groups consist of a great many students who have done little or no work in the organizations and have "just been present" at a few of the meetings. With such loose qualifications for membership, there are many students who belong to several clubs, and do but little work in any. These "professional joiners," as they may be rightfully called, will have their pictures in the annual as many times as they are members of clubs. It is certain that these members can give but passive support to a club.

On the other hand, there are many students who would make desirable members in some organization, but who belong to none. These organizations have not been made attractive to them. This attractiveness can be attained in a society only by making it exclusive.

Along with requirements for membership in an organization come the problems of more equal distribution of offices and the limitation of extra-curricular work. These problems are taken care of in many schools by the point system, in which a student is prevented from assuming too much work and responsibility. In such a way a student's work becomes more specialized, more intensive, and hence, more productive. Our school needs some such changes as these in order to broaden the field of leadership, and in order to intensify the responsibilities of the students.

It is the opinion of the News that the organizations of the college can increase their strength and attractiveness by putting candidates for membership on trial, demanding of them certain contributions at meetings, regular attendance, and continued support. In such a way "polygamy" among organizations will be somewhat checked, and the insignia of a club will come to have more value.

George Washington

It is fitting and proper that we assist the world in paying homage to the memory of George Washington, and it is fortunate that we have students and faculty members who can tell us of the life of the great leader of American democracy. There has never been a particle of doubt that George Washington has been and will be thought of forever as a great man in history. As the first leader of the United States, a job in itself which only a few men could ever have filled, and a man famous for his honesty, Washington is a favorite of the children of the country. Let us honor the memory of George Washington on February 22, the two-hundredth anniversary of his birth.

Abolish Class Jewelry

Did you ever stop, look around, and actually notice any enthusiasm to purchase class jewelry among the students? Probably not, because the enthusiasm is aroused by high-pressure salesmen who travel over the country selling their wares to students who have burdens enough in keeping up the necessary expenses of college life. There are certainly better things attached to your college life that you could purchase if there be any extra money. One example is the WARBLER; another is a memorial for your class.

Be sold on E. I.; don't be sold by high-pressure salesmen. Abolish class jewelry!

Somebody said about the only difference between the sucker who bets his shirt on a pat naid, and the broker, who loses his pants on Wall Street, is that one of them plays golf. Now, what's the difference between the country bumpkin who says "wootche" and "gimme," and the city kid, who, "I do you care to" and "maybe I have." After all is said and done, the rules of etiquette aren't much more of a flop than the 18th Amendment.

The basketball game was at its height; E. I. had just made the deciding basket. "Oh," sez Katie Savolli, hearing the cheering, "did we make a touchdown?"

Sez Ernestine Taylor, appearing in a blue blouse, "All that Mary Kennedy has on me is her blouse."

Sez Nadine Hill, pushing Martha Sebastian's shoulder back, "I guess my mission in life is straightening people out."

Alice Martin and Martha Sebastian were at the local theatre enjoying a comedy in which a train was puffing vigorously.

Martha Sebastian—"Oh, that's because it smokes so much."

Education Question—"How would you expect your pupils to show school spirit?"

Bob Whiteford—"Well, I should expect my pupils, in addition to attending games and cheering, to pick up paper, report leaky radiators, and keep things tidy."

Ernestine Taylor—"You won't need a janitor in your school, will you?"

Can't you just imagine Kay Arts saying to Pete, "You won't be my Valentine?"

What Our Readers Have to Say

Dear Editor:

Those who have been at T. C. for a long time have often observed the way college students spend their spare time. The Women's League has recently been organized and it deserves a compliment! At the basketball tournament on Monday night one would be surprised to see the number of enthusiastic basketball players who had been interested enough to come to the gym on their own accord to play. Another thing is this new feature of the bridge tournament, which one hears so much about everywhere. How many are enjoying it? Those who have the high scores? No, the first thing some students read in the News is the final of the last bridge tournament. Some of the leaders and presidents may get discouraged, but we who have seen this great change in the students' recreation see that it is toward the better goals of student living.

To the News:

College students either take part in too many extra-curricular activities or not enough. The effect on the individual is degrading in most cases. Time indulging in too many outside activities tends to smother the student. Popularity among the student body is invariably gained by this, but at too great a cost. When the individual gets out of school, he is lost. His low scholastic standing and absence

(A Note on Psychology)

Gentle readers (including those who break up the furniture), E. I. is a teachers' college. You are here to learn to teach (of course, there are no jobs for teachers, but that is another point). During your spare time you will dance, play cards, eat hamburgers, and wish you had a Cord. During your serious moments you will worry about food, clothes, money, girls, and the neighbors. Some day you will receive a diploma. You may by chance wonder why. It is unethical to ask. You must just keep on wondering. Some day you may get a job. You will still wonder why. It is unethical to ask. You must just keep on wondering. Some day, perchance, you may teach, for this is a strange world, and anything might happen. But patience, gentle readers (and those who break up the furniture), psychology will explain all, and you can die happy—happy indeed that you did what you did because you did it.

Oh, I'm so excited! I don't usually go in for these raptures, but I think in my present circumstances it's permissible. My heart is fluttering as wildly as the wings of an imprisoned bird, for it's happened! The miracle of all miracles has befallen me. I, who was yesterday a commonplace plodding mortal, am uplifted into the realms of heavenly, ecstatic bliss—bliss that makes me feel only a little lower than the angels. Why (r) they leave me alone for a day, these methodical teachers who are so devoted to their books that they can not know, can not even catch a glimpse of those ethereal beauties I am nourishing in my soul. If I could only forget all the vicissitudes of life for an hour, leave these walls behind and go out into the great open spaces where I might consume unafraid with myself.

I'm thrilled from the top of my head to my finger tips. It's all so impossible, so fantastically dreamlike—and yet it's happening to me, who remains

A little work, a little play
To keep us going—and so, good day!

A little warmth, a little light

WE ARE HAPPY to announce that the election, last Wednesday was one of the most orderly ones ever attempted during the last two years. No one stuffed the ballot box and everyone seemed satisfied. The results of this election indicate that there should be little difficulty in securing an authentic ballot in any election. The classes might try some such a scheme.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE in order to the Writers' club which has become affiliated with the national writers' fraternity, Sigma Tau Delta. We now have three national fraternities on the campus; two honorary and one a social fraternity. One of the best reasons for a national affiliation such as this last one is the chance for communication with other people of the same interests through conventions, publications, and group meetings. It is always well to know what other students are doing on the same campus of the world.

commemoration of the 200th birthday of George Washington should prove interesting. This series of talks to be given by the students offers an opportunity for experience in speaking which cannot be duplicated at this college. The time these students will use searching for material, and in planning their talks will be well spent. Let the student body assist in the programs by giving the best of attention.

THE SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT of the News will be published within the next month, but before publication, it is necessary to secure as much information of former students of the college as possible. It is beyond the powers of the staff of the News to secure all this information and at this time we are calling for help. If you have news of a former student, know of recent marriages, deaths, births, or of positions recently secured, or of good fortune, hand that information to the News. Your cooperation will aid in making the Alumni News one of the best ever printed.

THE PROGRAMME PLANNED IN

Panthers Complete Week's Games to Win 3; Rose Poly, DeKalb Fall

(By Irvin Singler)

Led by the accurate sharpshooting of Ballard and Fearn, the Panthers handed DeKalb a 34-21 defeat, in a game played at the local gymnasium Saturday night. It was only the sensational long shot shooting of Captain Lakin, of the visitors, that kept the Northern Teachers in the ball game. With four minutes left to play the locals held a 34-21 advantage, but just as they had laid their hands against Normal the night before, the visitors chalked up eight points before the final gun sounded. DeKalb lost to Normal Friday night 39-38, after trailing by 13 points late in the game.

The victory avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of DeKalb, and, by the way, the worst defeat the Panthers have suffered this season. The win also brought the locals' conference record to four victories and five defeats and if the Panthers expect to finish over the 500 mark they must defeat both State Normal and Shurtleff, quite a task.

The Panthers were the best team on the floor Saturday night, and in all fairness to the visitors, they were handicapped by the illness of their regular center, Pace, who scored 15 points in the last engagement between the two teams. Only twice during the entire game did the DeKalb team flash the brilliant passing attack of which it is capable, and Lakin represented the only scoring punch of the visitors. Westlake, a freshman star, of whom much was expected failed to deliver on the small floor and his inability to find the hoop handicapped the Panthers.

Due to the basket shooting of Lakin and Swanson the visitors held a lead of 8-7 shortly before the close of the half, but after Ballard had dropped in his third field goal to again put the Panthers in the lead, DeKalb never again was in front. Fearn added a field goal and Walker added a pair of free throws to give the Panthers a 13-10 advantage at half time. Neither team was able to hit the hoop with any degree of accuracy but the Panthers were the worst offenders, failing to register several easy shots under the basket, and at other times wasting chances by poor passing when a basket seemed to be a cinch.

The Panthers displayed some brilliant passing and teamwork immediately after the second half started. Walker started off things with a sleeper after taking a short pass from Ballard under the basket. York added a neat shot from the free throw circle and Fearn dropped in another from under the basket. Ballard dropped in the fourth field goal from the side of the court and the Panthers held a 21-10 lead. Ballard and Fearn picked up 10 points while Lakin and Johnson were finding the hoop, and the Panthers led 34-21. Westlake started the comeback with a short shot and Lakin came through with his sixth field goal of the evening. Tadd, a substitute forward, made good on a long shot, and Westlake ended the night's scoring with a pair of free throws, and the score ended 34-29.

Ballard was again the offensive star of the game but the improved play of Fearn, local center, was the bright spot of the victory. Fearn dropped in several shots under the basket while closely guarded and his scoring spree enabled the Pan-

(By Russell E. Kallam)

A scrappy, accurate passing Panther five handed the Rose Poly quintet their second defeat for the season last Wednesday, after a great rally on the Engineers' part proved slightly too weak and left the final score 33-29 in the Blue's favor. Captain Von Behren cut loose with a scoring spree in the first half to give the Panthers the initial lead which later led to victory over the boys in Terre Haute.

The Rose eagles drew first blood with a clever basket by P. Richardson, red-headed forward, who started in the previous game with E. I. The lead was of short duration, however, as Von Behren dropped in three baskets in rapid succession, and Simcox, Ballard, and Grafton each counted from the floor. The first squad was replaced for the remainder of the half on virtue of a twelve point lead, but Hess, center for the Engineers, found the basket three times and the half ended 19-11.

Soon after the opening of the second half, the Engineers began a drive that bid fair to cut the E. I. lead; led by Sawyer, accurate shooting guard, the Rose quintet let loose a rally which put them within two points of the Panthers, 29-27. Shortly before the gun, however, Simcox and Von Behren came through with counters while Sawyer scored but one for the Engineers, leaving the final count 33-29.

Lantzmen Win Second Game From Sparks B. C. at Shelbyville 33-23

(By Paul Elliot Blair)

After an opening flurry by Spark's basketballs the Lantzmen were never in danger as they defeated the neighboring business college in easy fashion, 33-23, in their return game at Shelbyville Thursday night. York, a former Spark's star, came through to score the first basket, but the Businessmen went into the lead after sinking a free throw and a field goal. This was the only time they were ever in the lead as the Panthers forced ahead slowly but surely.

Phys. Ed. vs. Black Cats
The Black Cats trounced the Phys. Ed. outfit 20-6 in the first game Saturday afternoon. This game marked the Black Cats fifth win and the Phys. Ed. team's seventh loss.

Math Club vs. Fraternity
The "freak" game of the intramurals was played Saturday afternoon when the Math club team humbled the Fraternity 44-5. Because of the continuous "boiling" of the crowd the referee allowed Powers eight free throws in succession. The Fraternity team finished the game with only two players, the others having been sent out on personals.

Raphael, greatest of all painters, first won his reputation as an architect.

The score stood 19-12 at the half. Von Behren showed the return of his "dead-eye" for long shots as he continued his good work which he did Wednesday night against Rose Poly. Four field goals and three free throws gave the Panther captain a total of 11 points. Ballard and York with seven and six points respectively, came next in scoring. Adams of Sparks scored nine points to lead his team.

PHI SIG PARTY—
Members of Phi Sigma Epsilon were entertained with a Valentine dance at the chapter house on Sixth street last Saturday night. Dancing to the radio was the programme of the evening. Refreshments in the form of hearts were served by the committee which consisted of Delmar Collenberger '32, Alfred Moore '34, and Homer Thill '34. Jerry Brannaman of Gamma chapter at Kirksville, Mo., was guest of the evening.

CHILE SUPPER—
Miss Katherine Pier '35 and Miss Ines Krigbaum '35 were honored by a Chile supper given by the girls living at 1081 Seventh Street, Thursday evening, February 11. The St. Valentine idea predominated in table decorations and the dessert. The girls enjoyed a theatre party afterwards.

DEIRDRE

By Margaret BRADY '34
A Complete Original Novel Written by a Member of the Sophomore Class of This College

Slow, dragging footsteps were heard inside. Old Nancy opened the door. "Why, it's Miss Deirdre," she said eyeing the visitor in gladness that held a trace of earnest scrutiny. Her parchment skin had become browner and drier. Her eyes were a little more faded. Otherwise she was the same Nancy as in Deirdre's girlhood.

Deirdre laid a caressing arm across her shoulder and touched her forehead faintly. "This is my boy, Robert," she explained pressing her finger against the child's dimpled cheek.

"Heaven be praised that it's a boy!" Nancy said piously as she led them toward the familiar drawing-room.

"Don't you like girls?" Deirdre queried.

"Deed I do, Miss Deirdre—I'm terrible fond of Nancy's baby, Cynthia Ann. She named it after your aunt, by the by. But, you'll pardon my sayin' it, Miss Deirdre, the Calhoun women are always so squeamish—sort of untouchable."

Deirdre frowned a bit and slipped her gloves in to the purse she carried.

"You've come to stay a spell," Nancy decided as she observed the heaviness of Deirdre's suitcase.

The young woman nodded. "Yes. Our trunk is at the station now."

"Husband well?" she almost stood on tip toes to peer into Deirdre's face.

"Yes, Nancy. But oh the piano—the dear, old piano!" She ran to it eagerly and struck a chord. Her head bent lower as though to drink in its rich mellowness. "So different from that old jangly one!" she cried—"so different—I could almost play again, I do believe!"

Nancy nodded triumphantly at Grandmother Hanson—"unto the third and fourth generation" she whispered.

"What is generation?" asked little Robert coming to her side. "Never you mind, child. Never you mind. You'll meet life soon enough."

The child tugged at Deirdre's skirt. "Mamma!" he pleaded.

"Hush, Robert," she said. "I want to forget."

"Forget what?"

Forum Decides On Democrat President

Willard Turney '32 presented an interesting paper to the Forum Thursday evening on the subject of National Party Conventions. The convention system was founded in 1832 and has been our method of nominating candidates for the presidency ever since.

Several things help determine where the conventions will be held. A doubtful state is always chosen for the meeting place. The amount of money a city will raise often determines the location of the convention. Baltimore ranks first in the number of conventions held of any city in the United States.

This year both conventions will be held in Chicago. The last time both conventions were held in Chicago in 1894 the election following was disastrous for the Republicans as their candidate, J. G. Blaine was defeated by the Democrat candidate, Grover Cleveland.

Mr. Turney also discussed the procedure used in the convention and its importance.

Kenneth Sloan ably led the discussion in which Mr. Seymour and Mr. Coleman played leading roles. The most favored topics were the modern trend of governmental reforms, Jeffersonian Democracy, how it works today, and whether or not our politics are as clean as they were in "the good old days."

The interest of the meeting reached its climax about 9 o'clock when Democrat and Republican candidates for the Presidency were nominated. In the election which followed Mr. Roosevelt of New York won the race.

What Our Readers Have to Say

of faculty recommendations are a great handicap to him. Few are able to overcome it. On the other hand, the student who stays at home every night and studies incessantly is also to be pitied. Because of his seclusion, he, in time, becomes a person with few intimate friends. He has the pleasure of associating with people taken away from him. His mind is generally clouded at all times with thoughts of assignments. The knowledge of the facts is not all that makes up an education.

The benefits of extra-curricular activities are unquestioned. Extra-curricular activities, however, must not be considered the most important. School work comes first. There are two things to watch. That one has activities enough to occupy his spare time is important. One should not take time from his studies to engage in an excess of extra-curricular activities.—Donald Icenogle.

Men Defeat Women In Bridge Tournaments

Last Tuesday the men proved themselves the victors of the E. I. Bridge Tournaments. They played sixteen hands but the girls showed no sign of resistance to the onslaught of points piled up by them. Virginia Leacy '34 and Ernestine Taylor '34, who represented the bridge ability of the girls, were definitely handicapped by hands in which a peek over the shoulder often revealed the jack to be high. But Scott Funkhouser '34 and Jake Voic '34 had no mercy; they played at their best the whole evening and came out decidedly on top—by a few thousand points.
